DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 35, 65, 73 and 74 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

The Applicant's representative has not given any arguments regarding the Double Patenting rejection.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 2, 5-18, 32, 34-36 and 38-40 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17, 25, 27 and 28-32 of copending Application No. 10/664,575. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the structure claimed is essentially identical with minor substitutions of terminology such a bore for pathway and the minor preamble difference of intended use as being for a "spinal plate" in the copending application, the applicant is respectfully reminded that intended use, as set forth in the claims, carries no weight in the absence of any distinguishing structure.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 9, 10, 17-19, 35, and 65 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Null et al US Pub./ 2004/0015174 A1.

Null et al discloses a guide device having at least one pair of thru bores comprising an elongated shaft (20) having a proximal end (14), a distal end (25), a guide member (12) coupled to the distal end of the shaft and including first and second pathways (30 & 31) at least partially in communication with one another (they are in communication with each other because they are touching each other) and the distal end of the elongate shaft being offset from the first and second pathways (see Fig. 1). Therefore, the three axes are offset from each other). At least one tab (35).

Art Unit: 3738

Regarding claims 9-10, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Claims 1, 35, 36-40, 65, 73 and 74 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Foley US Pub. 2004/0092947 A1.

Foley discloses a guide device having at least one pair of thru bores comprising an elongated shaft (42) having a proximal end (46), a distal end (40), a guide member (25) coupled to the distal end of the shaft and including first and second pathways (66 & 26) at least partially in communication with one another (by element 41) and the distal end of the elongate shaft being offset from the first and second pathways (see Fig. 1). Therefore, the three axes are offset from each other). At least two tabs (68 & 28). Elements 68 and 28 have a C-shaped form.

Regarding claims 9-10, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-8, 12-16, 21-24, 66-72 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
